A STOLEN BOND RECOVERED.

OFFERED FOR REDEMPTION IN A BOSTON RAIL-ROAD OFFICE-A BARKEEPER ARRESTED. Boston, May 9 (Special).-The Belmont Bank, in the heighboring town of Belmont, was robbed on the night of January 18, 1887, and the property carried away one $500 Mansfield and Framington Railroad bond. three shares Hide and Leather Bank stock, valued at $300; two shares Webster National Bank, valued at three shares Freeman's National Bank, $300; four shares Traders' National Bank, $400; five share Third National Bank, $500, and $150 in cash. For several years the Boston inspectors have watched the coming of these bonds into State Street, and the New any of these bonds made their appearance in the mancial market, although it is believed they have all been floated. Several days ago Robert P. Webber, young man working in a broker's office in State st. redemption, they having issued the bond. When the bond was presented the cashier detected at once that it was one of the missing Mansfield and Framing-ian bonds, which the road had lost at the time of the robbery of the Belmont Bank. The bond was held and the young man told to call again.

Inspector Eldridge, of the Boston police, was at once informed, and he placed the matter in the hands of Inspectors Watts, Houghton and Skelton. They had an interview with the railroad people, and they called a young man well known to him called at the office where he works and endeavored to negotiate the bond. Webber said he wished to investigate the bond, and told the young man to call the following day. He admitted that his purpose was not to investigate the bond, as he considered the signer safe. But, as to call, reserving his commission. Webber was asked if the young man had not told him from whence had died a short while ago, and that in searching an old chest, which beloated to the deceased man this bond was found with a number of other valuable papers. As the piece of paper showed its value upon its face, he decided to put it in a broker's hands for redemption. From information gleaned in another quarter, the officers this morning accepted John J. Twohis, a young bartender of the North End. He was brought face to face with Webber, and the latter identified him without reservation, as being the man who had given him the bond. Twohig is about thirty years old, and does not look like a burghar. He has no record that the police are aware of. He says he is innecent, but refuses to account for the manner in which he became possessed of the bond. Webber and Twohig, it is said by the detectives, have been close triends for some years. Twohig was taken to the Cambridge District Court, where he was held in 83,000 ball for the Grand Jury, on the charge of breaking into the lemmont Eank in 1887, and stealing therefrom the above-mentioned bonds and money. its face, he decided to put it in a broker's hands for

CONSUL CORTE WILL NOT BE DISTURBED. PHILLIPS BROOKS'S SUCCESSOR.

TALK OF CANON FARRAR AS RECTOR OF TRINITY-STATEMENTS BY CHURCH OFFICIALS.

Boston, May 9 (Special).- The question of who will seceed the Key. Phillips Brooks as rector of Trinity Church 's being discussed. Canon Farrar, of England. who is a near personal friend of Mr. Brooks, has been suggested as likely to receive a call. He is said to have expressed a wish, when visiting this city a few years ago, to be established in Boston, if he should ever be called away from England.

"Is it true that Canon Farrar is being talked of as a possible successor to Dr. Brooks?" was asked of Charles Henry Parker, senior warden of Trinity, this heard of such a thing," said Mr. Parker. "It is too early to talk about a successor to Dr. Brooks. He has not yet left the church. Should be be confirmed as Bishop, it is not probable that he would be consecrated until autumn. It will be early enough then to talk "Has no one yet been talked of by the church officers for the rectorship when it becomes vacant?"

"Not that I know of. Dr. Brooks's place will be hard to fill, and I can say, as one of the wardens of Trinity, that the duty of finding a new rector is one that we are loath to perform, and shall be in no hurry about. The papers have suggested the names of Dr Arthur Brooks, Dr. John Brooks and the Rev. Mr. Mc Vickar, of Philadelphia, but I assure you the church has done nothing in the matter." "Would Canon Farrar be acceptable as a successor to Dr. Brooks 'o the majority of Trinity's members?'

"That I cannot say."
"Would it be acceptable to you personally!" "I heard Canon Farrar preach when he was in Boston several years ago, but I must confess that I was disappointed in him as a preacher when I compared him to Dr. Brooks. I have never heard that he desired to leave England. We hope that we may still see much of Dr. Brooks, as his home will be in Boston. His dulies as Bishop will be more exacting than as rector of Trinity, but we do not propose to allow him to be buried by work."

W. P. Blake, a vestryman of Trinity Parish, said: successor to Dr. Brooks. There are several men on this side of the water who would as ably fill Trinity's pulpit as Canon Farrar. It would surprise me much if an Englishman were chosen for the place. Canon Farrar is a man who would please a few of acceptable to all of them, though he is undoubtedly a great man. I do not know either that he would accept the place were it offered him. The church will do nothing in the way of looking about for some one to succeed Dr. Brooks until he has been confirmed." "I know that Canon Farrar's name has been talked of by some of the vestrymen," said a lay member of Trinity, "but of course they will say nothing about it. There is a sentiment in his favor among many of those who are intimate with Dr. Brooks, and I more than half expect to see the rectorship offered to the Canon."

Canon."

Canon Farrar was born in 1831, near hombay. He was formerly a fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, assistant master of Harrow Public School, and master of Mariboro College. He is the author of several receiver.

ROMANGE IN THE OHIO PENITENTIARY.

Cincinnati, May 9 .- A Columbus, Ohio, dispatch says: "Raiph Holmes, a convict, serving a two-year sentence from Ashrabula County for passing counter-feit money, gave his name, a half hour before his feit money, gave his name, a half hour before his death, to the nurse as F. C. Guoin, of Connecticut, and asked that his mother be notified. This was done and she ordered the body sent to Little Falls, N. Y. Yesterday morning two well-dressed women called to ask the privilege of burying the body. They were the intentions of the new law forbidding the fining of weavers for imperfect work, and considerable specfrom Ashtabula County, and explained that the convict was engaged to be married to the younger one. They were mother and daughter; they had never believed him guilty, and the wedding was set for July 4, when his term expired. The request was refused. The body was sent to his mother, who by his death, had the first intimation that he had been in the penitentiary.*

PUTTING A STOP TO SWINDLING SCHEMES.

PANIES IN NEW-ENGLAND. Boston, May 9 (Special).-Never before in the his tory of New-England have there been so many wild-cat schemes for money making, or actual swindling, as to-day exist in the shape of so-called endowmen companies that profess to give a gold dollar for 50 cents. Unfortunately for the simple-minded and unticated men of moderate income these leeches are inder the protection of the law, but a vigorous effort being made in Massachusetts and New-Hampshire to law has been enacted in Massachusetts prohibiting reign companies of this character from doing business in Massachusetts. Under this law 201 companies that tained their charters in New-Hampshire, but who were transacting business in Massachusetts, have been "warned out" of this State, and now State Insurance Commissioner Linehan, of New Hampshire, has notified that class of schemers that they can no longer continue to do business in that State, unless they comply with the law that regulates all life insurance companies, and they must show a paid up capital of $200,000, or cash assets of the same amount invested as the law requires. This they cannot do, consequently the Granite State will soon be rid of them. Immediately after the passage of the law placing endowment companies under the supervision of the Insurance Com-missioner that officer sent to the 200 companies doing business in the State blanks calling for a statement of their financial condition. Thirty-two companies have complied with the demand. The income of twenty eight of these companies, which have been doing busi ness on an average eight months, was reported t be, in the aggregate, $785,369 17. They had pard out in relief and for matured certificates $107,047 82; for in relief and for matured certificates $107,047.82; for salaries and other expenses, $350,878.75, and the balance on hand is, $325,041.

One of the requests made in the blanks was that companies should give the names of the original owners of certificates numbered from 1 to 25 and names of the officers among the number. The replies to the questions were in some instances evasive, and in others they were answered, and it was found that a good many were officers in more than one company. One man was an officer in four different companies and presumably drew as many salaries. In many instances men came to the Commissioner's office seeking tleenses who had articles of incorporation in their pockets for three of four different associations, all with different plans, hoping that if they failed to set a license in one case they might in another. All were willing to comply with the law if they might be allowed to continue business.

Legal authority will be consulted, and a test case made of the first weaver fined. Five hundred out of 800 members were present at the meeting. Several mill agents say that the outlook for a presperous season is had, and they do not eare whether they run or not. The market is overstocked, and has been for some time. They also say that the grading system must be enforced at all hozards.

A CHINESE DETECTIVE MURDERED. Washington, May 9.—The Treasury Department has received a letter from James Marr, an Inspector of Chinese in the El Paso, Texas, customs district, in which he says that in October last he employed a Chineso laundryman of Paso del Norte, Mexico, as a chose intention it was to cross to the United States, He seemed to do this faithfully, the agent say? was of no little service to him. The inspector took a vacation some time ago, and on his return, the list and thereupon began a search for him, which resulted some days ago in his finding that he had been murdered some days ago in his finding that he had been murdered in his room at Paso del Norte. All the dreumstances and such evidence as the agent says he could find, showed conclusively that the assassination was caused by the Chinese society or order of assassins known as "Highbinders," and the cause of the assassination was undoubtedly that the Chinaman acted for him in the capacity noted above. The Mexican authorities made no inquiry or investigation whatever of the case.

CONSEQUENCES OF A STUDENTS' RIOT. Chicago, May b.-A dispatch from Ann Arbor, Mich., which a student, Irving J. Dennison, was killed, it is probable that Company A, 1st Regiment, Michigan State Troops, the company which had the row with the students, will be disbanded. General Lothrop has reported the matter accordingly to Governor Winans. The latter will give the company a chance to defend itself, but it is probable that the company will be broken up. The captain of the company, William T. Armstrong, has been specially active in bringing affairs to this pass, as the company turned out on that fatal November night without his permission. He has obtained the signatures of a number of the best young men in the town to ferm a new organization, if the old one is disbanded.*
